

2. This FCPA problem is relatively straightforward and calls for explanation of all the elements of liability under the statutory scheme. Most elements are clear, but the jurisdictional issues are in some doubt and call for extended discussion under the facts, statutory text, and limited case law. Because this is a problem of how to advise the client, an answer should also consider the company's best options in light of DOJ enforcement policy, practice, and trends.